a WILD week IN REVIEW

Rep. Wild Celebrates Military Academy Nominees

One of the most inspiring aspects of my life and one of the greatest honors of being a Member of Congress is having the privilege to nominate dedicated young people from my district to a Service Academy.

Earlier this month, I held a reception for the 27 nominees for 2024. I'm so proud of these young people from our community who are united in their dedication to serving our country. It was great to have them all in one room, and I can't wait to see everything they will accomplish in the future!

For more information on Service Academy nominations, check out my website.

Rep. Wild Thanks VA for Expanding IVF Access

Last week, the Department of Veterans Affairs announced a new policy providing more veterans the reproductive care they need to grow their families, including supporting them if they choose to undergo IVF treatment. This week, I joined dozens of my colleagues to applaud this policy – because all Americans deserve access to fertility care.

Since long before the Alabama Supreme Court ruling endangering access to IVF, I've been advocating for passage of my bill, the Access to Family Building Act, which would create a national right for families to utilize IVF and other assisted reproductive technologies in consultation with their medical providers. I'm so grateful that this bill has received an outpouring of support from my colleagues on both sides of the aisle, and I'll keep fighting to protect access to these critical medical treatments.
