"Transformative projects like the Allentown Art Museum and the Lehigh-Northampton Airport Authority will fuel growth and opportunity. The new museum will attract visitors, expand educational programming, and boost cultural tourism, and at the same time, we're improving airport safety with advanced equipment to support commerce and ensure efficient travel."

"On behalf of the Allentown Art Museum, I am deeply grateful to Senators Jarrett Coleman and Nick Miller, as well as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for this impactful LSA grant," said Allentown Art Museum President and CEO Max Weintraub. "This investment in the Museum's future affirms the essential role that cultural institutions play in strengthening communities, expanding access to the arts, and driving economic vitality in our region. We are honored by Senators Miller's and Coleman's support and look forward to putting these funds to work in ways that will benefit Allentown and the Lehigh Valley for generations to come."
