WM To Build $42 Million Recycling Facility to Serve Slate Belt, Region

By Adrienne Fors

Plainfield Twp., Pa. — WM plans to invest $42 million in a new recycling facility (MRF) to capture more paper, plastics, metals and glass, from homes and businesses in the Slate Belt, Lehigh Valley, and other parts of eastern Pennsylvania.

The state-of-the-art, 92,000-square-foot Grand Central Recycling Center will be built on a 22.78-acre parcel to be subdivided from a larger tract adjacent to WM's Grand Central Landfill and Hauling office in Plainfield Twp. The parcel is owned by WM and zoned for a recycling processing facility. Residents are encouraged to attend a meet and greet on Jan. 9, 2023 at 5:30 p.m. at the Lookout Fire Company's social hall (123 South Main Street, Pen Argyl Pa.) where WM's recycling experts will be available to explain the project and answer questions.

WM's Greater Mid-Atlantic Area Director of Recycling Jim VanWoert said the Grand Central materials recovery facility, or "MRF," will be designed to facilitate tours and will include a 4,000 square-foot Sustainability Education Center that will be available to the public for meetings.

"This new technology will allow our facility to process greater volumes of material and generate higher-quality commodities for our customers who turn what we recycle into new products," said Mr. VanWoert.

These technological advancements are expected to allow the new facility to:

- Recycle more types of plastics
- Use optical sorters and artificial intelligence to achieve a tenfold increase in efficiency

- Utilize intelligent sorting where conveyors and optical sorters communicate with each other and with technicians to improve material quality
- Include a final optical sort line which sends missed recyclable material back for a second chance to be recycled

WM operates the former Greenstar recycling facility in Northampton, Pa., which will cease operating when the new Grand Central facility opens. Team members at the Northampton location will be able to relocate to the Grand Central MRF. The new center expects to accommodate team members who relocate and create 30 new career opportunities.
