Expanding Access to Homeownership

By Congressman Ryan Mackenzie

For four years, home prices surged and rents climbed, putting homeownership and affordable apartments out of reach for too many families. That's why I was proud to support the bipartisan Housing for the 21st Century Act, which passed this week to help tackle the housing shortage and expand opportunity.

This legislation cuts red tape, streamlines federal housing programs, and empowers local lenders and builders to produce more homes — giving working families a better chance to achieve the American Dream.

IRS Online Account: Protect Yourself and Access Your Tax Information

By Congressman Ryan Mackenzie

The IRS encourages taxpayers to create an IRS Individual Online Account to securely access tax information and help protect against identity theft and fraud. This free tool allows you to view key tax return details, request an Identity Protection PIN, check your refund status, access important tax documents like W-2s and 1099s, and manage payments or payment plans, all in one place.

Creating an account is quick and provides the same convenience as online banking. You can learn more and get started by visiting IRS.gov.
