Historic Milestone for Women in the PA House

By State Rep. Ann Flood

In recognition of National Women's History Month, the female members of the Pennsylvania House marked a historic milestone. With the swearing-in of Rep. Jen Mazzocco and Rep. Ana Tiburcio, the House now has 65 women members, the highest number in its nearly 350-year history. Two more women are scheduled to be sworn in in April, bringing the total to 67.

This milestone is a powerful reminder of the growing role women play in shaping policy, leading our communities, and serving the people of Pennsylvania. I am inspired by these trailblazing colleagues and the work we continue doing to make a difference every day.
