Recognizing Healthcare Trailblazers Across Pennsylvania

By State Rep. Ann Flood

It was an honor to join fellow honorees Wednesday evening in Philadelphia for City & State PA's 2026 Trailblazers in Healthcare event.

The annual list recognizes leaders making a difference for their organizations and fellow Pennsylvanians across the healthcare sector. The evening brought together honorees from across Pennsylvania to celebrate the important work being done to improve health and well-being in communities across our state.

My own work in healthcare is deeply personal. After losing my daughter, Lauren, at age 4 from a birth brain injury, I founded Lauren's Hope Foundation to support children and families affected by brain injuries. That experience continues to shape my work in the state House, where I serve on the Appropriations, Insurance and Human Services committees and co-chair the Mental Health Subcommittee. I also proudly serve on the Governor's Advisory Commission on Women.

Through my legislative work, I'm proud to champion measures addressing health insurance coverage, newborn genetic testing, cancer awareness and elder abuse. These issues can have a real impact on the health and well-being of Pennsylvania families, and I'm grateful for the opportunity to continue advocating for the people I represent.

I'm honored to be recognized by City & State PA as one of its 2026 Trailblazers in Healthcare. It was meaningful to celebrate this recognition alongside so many individuals from across Pennsylvania who are committed to making a difference in the lives of others.
