

President Trump Dyed-Diesel EO Signing

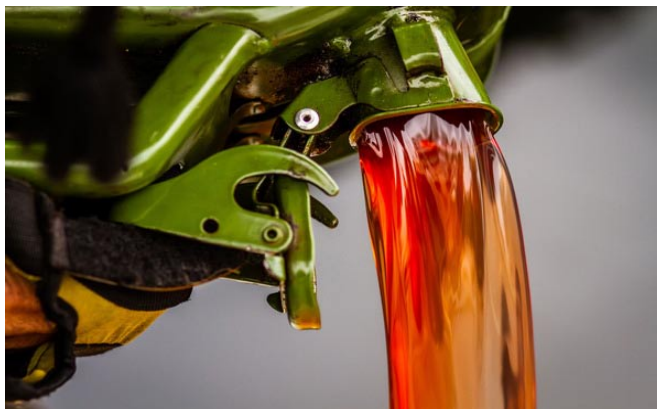

WASHINGTON — Today, U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Brooke Rollins issued a statement on President Trump's new executive order to provide relief for our farmers and ranchers by lifting taxes on dyed-diesel. Today's action expected to represent approximately $640 million in combined federal and state savings across about 224.6 million harvested acres.

"President Trump is the most pro ranching and farming president in our lifetime.

Energy dominance is at the core of putting farmers and ranchers first. This administration has unleashed American energy dominance, and we are now the largest energy producer in the world as a result. While the Administration has structurally changed the energy sector to secure the long-term future of agriculture, we are now taking steps to deal with short term pressures impacting our American farmers.

Thank you, President Trump for signing today's Executive Order enacting enforcement discretion on on-road use of dyed diesel, which will better enable our farmers to deliver America's harvest during this critical time. And I want to thank Vice President Vance for his help shepherding it to the end."

EASTON, PA — The Forks Business Association and Easton Area Chamber of Commerce, proud partners of the Greater Lehigh Valley Chamber of Commerce, are excited to launch the inaugural Forks Township Restaurant Week, taking place October 11–17, 2026.

This weeklong celebration shines a spotlight on the incredible restaurants, eateries, and food establishments throughout Forks Township and the surrounding area, inviting residents and visitors to discover new favorites, revisit beloved local spots, and support the businesses that contribute to the community's vibrant dining scene.

Nine local businesses are participating in this year's inaugural Restaurant Week, including:

La Perla Tapatia
Leaf Cigar Bar/Famous Cigars
Sunny Side Up
SURV
Uncle Louie G's
Zekraft
Widow's Tavern
Tony's
The GOAT

Participating establishments will feature special menus, promotions, and unique offerings throughout the week, providing plenty of reasons to dine out, explore the area's diverse culinary options, and support local businesses.

"Forks Township has such a great mix of restaurants and food businesses, and we wanted to create something that brings attention to all that our area has to offer," said Caitlin Hamlin Myers, AVP, Affiliated Chambers, Greater Lehigh Valley Chamber of Commerce. "We're excited to kick off the first Restaurant Week with nine participating businesses and encourage everyone to get out, try somewhere new, revisit an old favorite, and support the local establishments that make our community so special."

"Our local restaurants and small businesses are the heart of our communities, and initiatives like Restaurant Week are a great way to shine a spotlight on the incredible businesses we have right here in our own backyard," said Jessica O'Donnell-Gower, Executive Vice President, Greater Lehigh Valley Chamber of Commerce. "We're excited to see nine businesses come together for this inaugural celebration, and we encourage residents and visitors to get out, try something new, revisit a favorite, and most importantly, support local. Our hope is that this is just the beginning of a new tradition that continues to grow, bringing more visibility, foot traffic, and opportunities to the businesses that make this community thrive."

The inaugural event is part of the Forks Business Association's continued efforts to promote local businesses, strengthen community connections, and encourage residents to shop, dine, and spend locally. By bringing together a variety of establishments under one community-wide celebration, Restaurant Week provides an opportunity to showcase the area's growing dining scene while introducing participating businesses to new customers.
